RUN part 3 of 5

Patricia Robertson

"The Suit"

Frankie

Vic

Wolverine

PREVIOUSLY...

Venom is a parasitic creature that feeds upon and controls virtually any host it chooses, draining that host's vital fluids until the host's eventual death. Wolverine is a mutant whose body regenerates and repairs itself upon injury—theoretically, he cannot die.

And they're both in the small town of Voici, in Canada's Northwest Territories, at the same time. Obviously, this is a very large potential problem.

Which is why The Suit attempts to solve it in the most direct and permanent manner possible: He destroys Wolverine, rendering him useless.

This is, of course, only a temporary solution—Wolverine will heal. So The Suit must now destroy Venom before Wolverine's body heals and Venom obtains the ultimate host-body—all while evading Frankie and Vic, who are fully committed to capturing Venom for their own agenda.

Voici used to be such a sleepy little town...but it's about to wake up to a nightmare...

Relax, Vic--
Relax?! He knew about the collar and what it's for! And now it knows, too!
Then we'll come up with another plan. I'm contacting The Arc to get a solution right now.
You're what?!!
He'll kill us, Frankie! He'll kill us for failing!
No...he won't.
Nobody's supposed to know about us, Vic...but you're saying that guy in the suit did. That information alone is more than enough to keep us alive and in his good graces.
We've uncovered a leak.

But... we don't know anything about--
No, we don't...
...But she does.
Nice.

"Roger that--it should be relatively easy to trap and assume control of the creature, at this point.
"Even if it does know that we're going to trap it, it'll have to choose us as hosts simply to stay alive--what other choice does it have?"
